IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY WARNS DE VALERA.

THE NEW MENACE TO PEACE. GRAVE APPREHENSIONS OF OUTBREAK. SECRET MUNITIONS STORES.

Dublin, Mar. 27.

THE QUARREL FOISTED UPON THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT BY MR. DE VALERA THREATENS TO HAVE SERIOUS INTERNAL CONSEQUENCES, THE IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY (ITS EXISTENCE LEGALISED BY THE NEW PRESIDENT'S REPEAL OF THE COSGRAVE EMERGENCY ACTS) REGARDING HIS POLICY AS TOO MEEK AND MILD.

The leaders have issued a warning to the De Valera Government that the Irish Republican Army will remain organised as a fighting force until the Anglo-Irish Treaty has been scrapped “lock, stock and barrel.”

Internal conflict is the greatest menace. The feeling is prevalent that sooner or later the friction between the Free State Army and the Irish Republican Army will lead to an outbreak which, undoubtedly, would have grave consequences. The I.R.A. are known to have large secret stores of arms and ammunition and their mood is such that there is every reason for alarm.

PARADOXICAL STATE OF AFFAIRS.

Although the Easter demonstrations, the sixteenth anniversary of the 1916 Rebellion, passed off quietly both in the Free State and in Northern Ireland, there exists undoubtedly grave apprehension as to how long the present paradoxical state of affairs can continue.

It is well-known that the Republicans still have large quantities of arms and ammunition ready to hand in secret caches in different parts of the country, and the delicate relations between the Irish Republican Army and the Free State troops may lead to conflict.

BELIEF SHATTERED.

The warning issued by the Irish Republican Army to-day regarding the Anglo-Irish Treaty has disturbed the Republican leader, Mr. Eamon de Valera, shattering his belief that the removal of the Oath of Allegiance and the retention of the land annuities (to which he has committed himself) would win the loyal support of the Republican Army and permit its leaders to contemplate dissolution.

Instead, they have declared that the I.R.A. will remain an active

REVENUE NEEDED.

(“Telegraph” Special).

Shanghai, Mar. 28, 10.45 a.m.

A joint conference of the Shanghai Citizens' Federation and the Amalgamated Street Unions unanimously decided to resume business in Shanghai on April 1.

It was reported to the meeting that the National Government was determined to adopt a policy of long resistance against Japanese aggression and desired the merchants to support the Government by making every productive effort and striving for the promotion of trade and commerce. —Reuter.

Twenty-Two Yachts Capsize.

SQUALL TRAGEDY IN AUSTRALIA.

(Reuter's Special Service).

Adelaide, Mar. 27.

A terrific squall springing up suddenly to-day when thousands of people were holiday-making, swept the seaside resorts of South Australia with disastrous results.

At least seventy-five people were thrown into the water by the capsizing of small craft and had to struggle for their lives in tossing seas.

The loss of life, fortunately, was not heavy. Five members of the crew of the champion yacht “Sunny South” were drowned. In all, twenty-two yachts were overturned.

WIPING SLATE CLEAN.

FURTHER BRITISH REPAYMENTS.

New York, Mar. 27.

Within a very short space of time, Britain is wiping the slate clean as far as America is concerned, according to well-informed Wall Street quarters.

Britain, it is stated, proposes to repay a sum of $850,000,000 on March 29 and a further $820,000,000 on April 5, thus extinguishing completely the $1,670,000,000 obtained in August last for twelve months. —Reuter.

U.S. DEMOCRATIC HOPE.

ROOSEVELT GETS GOOD BACKING.

Atlanta, Mar. 24.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor of New York, and candidate for the Democratic nomination as President of the United States, to-day swept the Georgia primaries with an overwhelming victory in the preferential balloting.

Roosevelt won 127 of 169 counties in the balloting. The counties gave Roosevelt 882 county unit votes, and none for Edgar Howard.

THE MALTA INDISCRETIONS.

SIGNOR GUINTA COMPLAINS

MISREPRESENTATION ALLEGED.

Tripoli, Mar. 27.

Signor Guinta, the Under-Secretary of the Italian Ministry of the Interior, whose reported speech at the Fascist headquarters in Malta has caused much fluttering in the Foreign Offices of London and Rome, denies the inflammatory statements attributed to him.

He bitterly complains of misrepresentation by reporters at Malta. He declares:

“Replying to the welcome of the Italian Colony at Malta, I referred to the age-old Anglo-Italian friendship and expressed the hope that Italian language and culture in Malta would be preserved.

The Malta Chronicle alleges that the Italian Consul pressed Signor Guinta to be prudent, in view of his presence on British soil, but only drew a storm of invective upon himself.

“You sheep,” Signor Guinta is alleged to have said, “I want to hear no excuses. We must teach these — English what Fascism is.” —Reuter.

FORMER HEAD OF HARROW.

DEATH OF RIGHT REV. DR. FORD.

FINE SCHOLAR.

London, Mar. 27.

The death is announced of the Right Rev. Dr. Lionel Ford, Dean of York and former Headmaster of Harrow School.

Dr. Ford, who was born in September, 1865, was educated at Repton School and King's College, Cambridge, where he distinguished himself both in learning and sports. At Repton he was head boy from 1882 to 1884 and captained the cricket team in the latter year. At Cambridge he took the Winchester Reading Prize, a first in the Classical Tripos, and the Chancellor's Medal. He was also captain of his college eleven, played golf for the University, and in 1887 was President of the Union.

Thence in 1888 he went to Eton as an assistant master and while there took holy orders in 1893. Leaving Eton in 1901, he returned to his oldmaster and remained there until 1910 when he was appointed head of Harrow School. In 1924, Athens University conferred on him the degree of Ph. D. A year later he accepted the office of Dean of York, and in 1926 received the degree of D. D. —Caxton Volumes Sold.

In March 1931, England was startled by a report that some very rare and valuable works had disappeared from the library of York Minster. Dr. Ford, in reply announced that in 1930 five Caxton volumes had been sold for £20,000. He and the Chapter, he explained, were confronted with the necessity for carrying out urgent repairs on the roofs, external stone work, parapets and central tower which named cost £50,000. Constant appeals over a period of years had enabled them to obtain £45,000 for the preservation of the priceless medieval windows. No more funds being then available, Dr. Ford and the Chapter, after consulting some of the highest legal and archaeological authorities, decided to part with the Caxton volumes, which had a high marketable value, but no special association with cathedral or the diocese. The sum of £45,000 was offered and accepted.

A resumption of Japanese activity in war preparations is reported from Shanghai. Our photo shows engineers constructing a bridge across one of the numerous creeks, while in the background are burial mounds.

JAPANESE BATTLE PREPARATIONS.

MUCH SPECULATION ON NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

SOME MYSTERY attaches to the meaning of the latest developments in the Shanghai area, the hurried preparation of strong Japanese trench systems coinciding with the departure of the Lytton Commission. This information has been confirmed by independent sources.

It is reported that the Ninth Division, which was taken out of the line and concentrated at Woosung, is under orders to return to the scene of the last fighting, and that strong detachments have already arrived at Liuhoh.

SEVERE FIGHTING IN MANCHURIA.

JAPANESE AID PU YI FORCES.

Harbin, Mar. 28.

Serious fighting is reported between Manchukuo troops and forces opposed to the new regime, five miles to the north of Wokimoh.

The troops loyal to the new Government were supported by Japanese bombing aeroplanes, which wreaked havoc in the ranks of the “rebels.” It is stated that the Manchukuo troops drove back their opponents in disorder with heavy losses.

HAILUO LOOTED.

It is reported from Hailuo that after the evacuation of the town by the Japanese, General Ting Chao's troops entered and commenced a campaign of looting. Many houses were set on fire and destroyed.

It is also reported that Ting Chao's troops are re-forming and being re-equipped at Mishan, near the frontier, where they have many machine-guns, automatic rifles and armoured cars. —Reuter.

TIENTSIN BOMB OUTRAGES.

TWO EXPLOSIONS ON SATURDAY.

Tientsin, Mar. 28.

Two serious bomb explosions occurred in Tientsin on Saturday evening, two pedestrians being seriously wounded.

The first occurred outside the premises of a Chinese firm in the French Concession, and the second led the partial destruction of two houses in the native city. No arrests have been made and the cause of the outrages is a mystery. —Reuter.

During a game of football at Happy Valley among a number of young Chinese yesterday afternoon, a quarrel ensued between two of the players, resulting in Hong Kain, aged 15, inflicting an injured wound across the left side of Liang's head. The injury, however, was not serious.

LINDBERGH DRAMA.

A CLERGYMAN'S STORY.

BABY TO RETURN IN A WEEK.

New York, Mar. 27.

Nearly four weeks after the kidnapping of the baby-son of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, with hopes of ultimate rescue gradually dimming, there comes to-day a message from Norfolk, Virginia, stating that the baby will be returned within a week, possibly to-morrow.

This dramatic statement was made with the authority of Dr. Dobson Peacock, the Norfolk clergyman who has been acting as an intermediary between Colonel Lindbergh and the kidnapping gang responsible for the outrage.

Dr. Dobson Peacock declares that he has actually seen the baby, which, it is understood, is being held either in the region of North Carolina, or on a boat about thirty miles from Norfolk, Virginia. —Reuter.

Other Threats.

Police are guarding the homes of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, sister of Theodore Roosevelt, Governor General of the Philippine Islands, and Sir William Lewis, former Manila newspaper man, as the result of threatening notes sent them by kidnapers.

In the case of Mrs. Longworth, it is believed that the kidnapers desire are aimed at her daughter, Pauline.

The notes threatening Lewis, if he refused to pay a ransom of $50,000, were written on the stationery of the United States Navy. The notes were dated March 24 and 25, and were addressed to Lewis at his home in Manila. The notes were signed “The Kidnappers.”

VALLEY MURDER.

WITNESSES EXAMINED BY POLICE AUTHORITIES.

Continuing their investigations into the dastardly murder which was perpetrated on Mr. George Fung at Village Road, Happy Valley on Thursday evening, the Police examined a number of witnesses during the week-end and it was disclosed yesterday that none of the persons interrogated has so far been detained.

The Police attach little significance to the discovery on a certain party of two arms licences, for one of which the owner holds no weapon. The explanation given was that the firearm covered by the licence was never brought into the Colony, the licence having been issued by the authorities in Shanghai. Neither licence found in the party's possession applies to the automatic which was discarded by the assassin.

Little doubt seems to be entertained that jealousy was the motive for the crime and that the murder was committed by a paid assassin. It is on these lines that the Police are conducting their enquiries, but it is pointed out that their chief difficulty is the lack of identification of any nature, thus minimising their chances of being able to prove anything definite against anybody whom they might arrest in connection with the outrage.

Miss Lai Ming-fay.
The charming lady who was with the deceased on the night of the murder is Miss Lai Ming-fay, the name by which she is known. She is a native of Shanghai, a daughter of a family of artists and her father was the organiser of a well-known Chinese musical and dancing company which visited Hongkong and Singapore with much success some four years ago. Prior to her visit to South China, Miss Lai had established herself as a promising cinema actress in Shanghai and has taken the leading feminine role in several Chinese pictures.

Subsequent to the tour in Singapore and other parts of the Straits Settlements, Miss Lai settled in Hongkong and some two years ago the vernacular Press gave considerable publicity to a romance between her and a young Chinese. Miss Lai is said to have been residing at the Hotel Nathan in Yau-mat.

On the night of the murder Mr. George Fung had visited a friend's house in Happy Valley and it was whilst he was on his way to the Central district, apparently taking Miss Lai home, that he was attacked.

The murdered man was the grandson of the late Mr. Fung Wah-chuen, who was the Chinese representative on the Sanitary Board some thirty years ago. His grandfather was then the organiser of numerous public concerns and was the manager of a well-established Chinese bank in Hongkong. He had also served in the Peking Government as an official.

Mr. George Fung was a keen motorist and dancer and enjoyed a large circle of friends. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon at the Chinese Permanent Cemetery at Aberdeen and was well attended by relatives and friends.

FORCIBLY EJECTED.

UNWANTED VISITOR REFUSES TO LEAVE.

Stated to be insane, a Chinese who went to a house in Portland Street on Saturday night and there created a disturbance was forcibly ejected by the inmates of the house. So rough was the treatment used to remove the intruder that he received injuries to the side of his face, although they were not of a serious nature.

In a report issued by the Police, the man, Ho Wai, aged 58, of 169 Portland Street, went to 187 Portland Street where he started to create a disturbance. He is stated to be slightly insane and refused to leave the premises when requested. A tenant of the FAMOUS AMERICAN AVIATRIX.

MISS RUTH ELDER ON WORLD TOUR.

Miss Ruth Elder, the famous American aviatrix, was just preparing to visit Canton, when a representative of the Press visited her in her cabin on the Hamburg Amerika liner Resolute on Saturday night.

"Gee! I think Hongkong is wonderful," said Miss Elder enthusiastically, "the view coming up the harbour this afternoon was magnificent."

Miss Elder spoke enthusiastically of the trip, which she is enjoying immensely. She said that in Madras she went up in a Fess with a friend, and whilst in Batavia was given the opportunity of flying from there to Samarang, a distance of over 200 miles, in a specially chartered plane. She also flew over Manila for over an hour in a plane which she piloted herself, and arrangements have been made for her return from Canton to-day in a special plane.

Miss Elder is a real hustling American. Besides that she is beautiful, and it comes as no surprise to learn that she won prizes in two beauty competitions in 1927.

At that time the question who would be the first woman to cross the Atlantic by aeroplane was exciting the American people, so Miss Elder decided to compete.

She started from Roosevelt field, near New York, in October, 1927, in her own machine, the "American Girl" with George Haldemann as co-pilot. But the plane met with disaster after being 20 hours in the air, and was forced to descend in the sea. Just when all hope had been abandoned the Dutch steamer Berendrecht was sighted, and Miss Elder and Capt. Haldemann were taken on board. On her return to the United States Miss Elder accepted a theatrical contract, said to be worth $20,000, and won the U.S.A. coast-to-coast Derby for Girls next year. She is one of the only two women in the world to belong to the famous Order of Quiet Birdmen.

Miss Elder's real name is Mrs. Walter Camp, for she married the famous movie Director last year. Mr. Camp is as famous as his plucky wife in the States, for besides being the Director of Inspiration Pictures Inc., he is Director of the famous Madison Square Gardens, scene of so many athletic and static meets.

NEW FRENCH VESSEL.

GEORGES PHILIPPAR DUE TO-MORROW.

The magnificent new M. M. liner Georges Philippar is expected to arrive in Hongkong on her maiden voyage to the Far East to-morrow morning, and will berth at the Kowloon Wharf.

This vessel is the latest addition to the Messageries Maritimes Fleet, and left Marseilles on February 28, arriving in Singapore last Sunday. The Georges Philippar is a sister-ship of the Felix Roussel, and has a displacement of 21,448 tons. Unlike the Felix Roussel, however, she is painted all white. She has the same squat, square funnel as those on the Felix Roussel, and is an attractive ship in appearance.

She is capable of a fast turn of speed, and is fitted with the most modern equipment for the comfort and safety of passengers. She has a large tennis court, and a fine swimming pool. Some of her best cabins are furnished in Louis XVI, Louis XV, "Empire," "Directoire," "Moderne" and "Restoration" styles.

The liner was launched at the Lorient docks on November 6, 1930. She is assigned to the Indo-China, China and Japan service. The ship measures 122.30 metres in length, 20.80 metres in width and has a draft of 8 1/2 metres. She is propelled by two groups of Diesel engines of 6,000 h.p. each, and can accommodate 1,970 passengers.

house was obliged to use force and caused injuries to the intruder's face. He was later taken to the Kwong Wah Hospital where he received medical treatment.

FAREWELL PARTY.

SUB-INSPECTOR HUNT THE GUEST OF HONOUR.

A tea party was held at the Chinese Police Reserve Club on Saturday evening in honour of Sub-Inspector R. J. Hunt, who is shortly going home on leave.

There was a large gathering present, among whom were Dr. S. W. Tso, who presided, Mr. D. L. King, D.S.P., and Mr. Chan Lim-pak. The Hon. Dr. Tso, in making a presentation of a gold watch fob, made in the form of the Hongkong Police Reserve Badge, on behalf of the Chinese Company, stressed the large amount of work that Sub-Inspector Hunt had done for the Chinese Company, particularly as regards squad drill and methods of defence. Mr. Hunt had devoted all his leisure time to this work, and the Chinese Company were indeed very grateful to him.

Sub-Inspector Hunt replied in a few chosen words, saying that all that he had done for the Company was in the performance of his duty, and he was very glad to have been of assistance.

Billiard Tournament.

Prizes in connexion with the recent billiard handicap tournament conducted by the Company were also distributed to the winners by Mr. Chan Lim-pak. Dr. Tso, in calling upon Mr. Chan to give the awards, thanked the donors for their interest and generosity in the tournament. His thanks were extended to Mr. Charles Sinn, who had presented the shield, Dr. Tso the first prize, Mr. Li Jowoon, the second prize, Mr. Chow Ching-chiu, for the third prize and Mr. D. L. King for the prize for the highest break.

At the conclusion of the distribution, Mr. Chan commented upon the value of the Police Reserve Company, particularly the Chinese Company, to the public, and visualised the time when the numbers would go into thousands.

LORRY ON FIRE.

CATCHES ALIGHT AFTER COLLISION WITH WALL.

Damage to a gas light standard and the railings of the nullah in Park Road, in front of the Fairlie School, was caused by a motor lorry yesterday when the vehicle collided with the wall and then caught fire.

Repairs were being made to a gas light standard outside the Fairlie School and the motor lorry attempted to pass another vehicle at this spot. It was badly damaged before the arrival of the scene of the Fire Brigade.

Lorry Wrecked.

Bound for Fanning from Sha-tau-ko, a motor-lorry, No. 1052, ran off the Sha-tau-ko Road into a paddy-field on Friday at about 8 a.m. in trying to avoid a labourer who ran across the road. There were four other men on the lorry besides the driver. The lorry turned over and all five were slightly injured, but refused to go to hospital.

Traffic Inspector Mason and Sergeant Scrim were at the scene shortly after the accident and found the lorry a complete wreck, the front of the vehicle being smashed.

GOLD PROSPECTING IN SWEDEN: A FIERY VOLCANO: RUMANIA ROMANCE.

The main shaft houses of the Boliden gold mine recently discovered in Sweden and now being actively worked, are shown below, and at upper left are workers separating the ore. The bleak character of the Skelleftea district is suggested in the picture at upper right.

Flourishing forth clouds of smoke and ashes, De Fuego—Guatemala's famous "Volcano of Fire"—presented this fearsome aspect as a minor eruption menaced the town of Antigua recently. Fine ashes rained over the community, terrorising the inhabitants.

Happily smiling despite their reported exile from Rumania, Prince Nicholas and his morganatic wife are shown as they left a fashionable hotel in Paris. Nicholas' recent marriage to the former Miss. THREE KINDS OF LOVE

by KAY CLEVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

Ann and Cecily Fenwick have for years supported themselves, their younger sister, Mary-Frances, and their grandparents, known as "Uncle" and "Grand," because of the financial responsibilities Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry. Phil, her young lawyer, to whom she has been engaged for eight years, Cecily, 22, loves Harry Smith, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name her wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 16, and still in school, believes herself in love with Earl De Armount, a vaudeville actor whom she has met without the knowledge of her sisters. He urges her to leave home and become his stage partner. Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears Letty King, who works in Phil's office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to forget Phil by going about with Kenneth Smith, rich and attentive.

Mary-Frances agrees to go away with De Armount. The same day Cecily quarrels with her grandfather and drives away with Harry in his car.

Kenneth Smith asks Ann to marry him and she refuses.

CHAPTER XI.

Opportunities for Mary-Frances, for Cissy, Cissy could marry, conscience clear, and be happy. What right did Ann have to refuse all this simply because she did not desire it for herself? Or did she, perhaps, desire it? She had never before thought of it seriously. She couldn't do the boy any harm. He did not love her—but he thought that he did. He loved himself so dearly that he could not bear to deny himself anything.

The trouble was that marrying this funny boy was just one of those things that could not be done—not for money, nor for any reason. Suppose Grand were ill again this winter? Suppose Cecily might be married, right now. They had not bought their fuel for the coming winter. They had paid only half of the taxes last March. How soon could she find another position, with times as they were right now? People did do mad things. People did do things like saying suddenly, "Very well. Drive to the City Hall and get a license and we'll be married right away." There was a phrase—"within the hour." Suppose she were to say that? Suppose she simply opened her mouth and allowed the words to come out? Then what would happen? The minister. The ceremony. "Honour and obey—"

She looked furtively at Kenneth. She looked longer, and drew in a deep breath and released it with a giggle, clear and antiseptic. She had been having a melodramatic dream, a bad dream, and she had come suddenly awake.

"What's the joke?" Kenny demanded.

"Nothing. I just thought of something amusing."

"Well, headache better?" he asked, but with no solicitude.

"Much better," she said, and thought, "It would tell like a dream. Cissy, I dreamed last night that I was going to marry Kenny Smith. It seemed as if I had to, to get a fur coat for Mary-Frances, and the winter's wood. But when we stood before the minister, and I was just ready to obey, why, Kenny turned into that puppy Mary-Frances used to have. You remember—we called him 'Scowls.' He was yellow and pouty, and Grand thought he gave him asthma. I said to the minister, 'Can't marry him,' and the minister said, 'One, two three. I know all of in the background, all the time.' And Phil, who had been sort of in the background, all the time—"

Ann paused, corrected carefully, "Phil and Letty," and forgot about the dream.

A humane revolver, which inflicts a knockout, but leaves no injurious effects, is being tried out by the Paris police department. This "knockout gun" is the invention of Professor Diou, an expert on fire-arms, and consists of a cone-shaped attachment which can be applied to almost any revolver. Inside there is a power of chemical substances.

Mrs. Hill's chastely charming yellow-and-white kitchen. Uncle Chaney heaved the hamper to the table's shining top and said, for the third time, "Essie, if I was going to camp on you folks, I'd better bring a little something along," and Mrs. Hill and Ermintrude began to dip into the baskets, and take things out, and exclaim, and say that "Essie shouldn't have the idea!" and that Uncle Chaney shouldn't have, and "Salt rising bread!" and "enough for a regiment for a month," and all that sort of thing.

Chickens, spring ones, ready to fry; two quarts of Jockey cream as yellow as cheese; chubby brown cookies, cooked with raisins; and angel-food cake, lacking only wings, and strawberries, early picked with the dew on them, and fragrant in fresh green leaves. Sweet butter packed in a fat brown crock; white lettuce, crisp as paper; curving green cucumbers; holly-red tomatoes, and fascinating things in glasses that Essie just put in 'cause she wanted you folks to sample 'em—she didn't know how good they were. All these, and more, too, were fed to the refrigerator, and plans were afoot for straw-berry shortcake with whipped cream, and Mary-Frances watched and listened, faint and forlorn.

Since breakfast Mary-Frances had eaten one salted water. She and Ermintrude had lunched together. When Ermintrude's cousin Esther had been married she had not eaten one bite—the cousin Esther, that is, of course—for two whole days preceding the event. Ermintrude's standards were high. Ermintrude's tongue was a just tongue. For years and years after-wards Ermintrude would say, "If she could say it truthfully. 'We were together all that day, and she was in a land of dreams. Nothing could persuade her to eat a bite.'"

Mrs. Hill looked at Mary-Frances and thought that the child seemed miserable and said, "You'll stay and have dinner with us, won't you, Mary-Frances?"

"I—can't, thank you," said Mary-Frances weakly. Oh, so weakly!

"Yes, but you must. All this company food needs company."

"I—can't. Grand isn't very well, I'll be needed at home."

Mrs. Hill said, "You know best, dear, if that is the case," and felt nearly humbled. Here she had been wondering of late about the complete desirability of the little Fenwick girl as a playmate for Ermintrude. She knew that Mary-Frances was a nice little girl, still, she had been planning to encourage Ermintrude toward other friendships during the summer. And, all the while, the poor little bunny was perfectly sweet, with a real sense

SEVENTH CHILD RIDDLE.

Is the seventh child of a seventh child more apt than others to be a genius, or do the bright boys and girls come just as readily or more readily among the firstborn or the second?

In a broadcast last night, Sir William Beveridge, Director of the London School of Economics, said the investigation in which the B.B.C. and himself were co-operating might lead to the mystery of the seventh child being solved.

SATURDAY'S RACE MEETING.

SEASON TICKET BREAKS RECORD.

The outstanding event at Saturday's Races was the remarkable performance of Season Ticket, which broke the six furlong record for Australian ponies in the very fast time of 1 min. 21.2/5 secs.

Excellent conditions prevailed, and good racing was seen in almost every event. Woodland, last year's unbeaten Australian champion, suffered defeat when he lost to one of this year's batch of ponies from Australia. However, he should make amends to-day, as the distance will be longer.

POST OFFICE NOTICE

EASTER HOLIDAYS.

"On Easter Monday, 28th March the General Office and Branch Post Offices will be open as follows:—
Post Office
General Post Office 8 a.m. to noon.
Kowloon Branch 8 a.m. to 11 a.m.
Shuangwan Branch 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.
The other Branch Post Offices will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 a.m. only.

There will be no collection from the pillar boxes and one delivery of ordinary correspondence each day as on Sundays, and one delivery of registered correspondence each day at 9 a.m.

The Money Order Office will be entirely closed during the holidays. Information has been received that the Siberian route is interrupted and the service by this route will accordingly be resumed forthwith.

The Public are, however, warned that, as this Service is somewhat precarious and still liable to suspension without notice, letters will only be accepted at senders' risks. In the event of the service being again suspended all letters will be forwarded via Suez.

Letters and postcards for Europe and South America are forwarded "Via Siberia" if so superscribed.

It is notified for the information of holders of Private Boxes at the General Post Office that on and after 1st February, no correspondence will be placed in the Boxes. A notification will be substituted and Box holders are requested to call or send for the correspondence at the Boxholders' Lobby and there pay the amount of the Tax against the delivery of the letters or packets.

The Parcel Post Service to Shanghai and North China is fully resumed.

PEACE DEADLOCK IN SHANGHAI.

JAPANESE BUILDING DEFENCES.

Shanghai, Mar. 26. The Peace Conference met again to-day at the British Consulate but no progress was made. It is understood that the Conference was almost ruined over the question of the line to which the Japanese are to withdraw.

It was stated yesterday that the Japanese demanded that they be allowed to hold the line extending from Chenju to the Szetung Forts and along the Yangtze from Yangtze to Tchang. The Chinese Delegates refused to accede to this demand and the meeting almost met with disaster.

The Neutral Delegates finally secured another meeting this morning, which, however, failed to surmount the hurdle, but it appointed a Sub-Committee consisting of Chinese and Japanese Military Officers who will discuss the matter, and it is hoped that this will facilitate the work of the Conference when it meets again on Monday.

Meanwhile, the Chinese and Japanese Delegates have referred to their respective Governments for further instructions.—Reuter.

Ancillary Units Being Withdrawn.

Tokyo, Mar. 26. Imperial sanction was obtained this afternoon to carry out the second withdrawal of troops from Shanghai to Japan, and Mr. Shirakawa has been instructed accordingly.

Details were not obtainable, but the withdrawal is believed to comprise the Engineering, Commissariat and other special units originally despatched as Army Troops.—Reuter.

Japanese Digging Themselves In.

Shanghai, Mar. 27. A visit to the areas west of Kiangwan bear out Nanking's persistent reports that the Japanese are building extra defences and digging themselves in.

Near Chenju Japanese troops are busy digging trenches and laying barbed wire entanglements.—Reuter Special.

The Commission.

Nanking, Mar. 27. The city was gay with flags and the streets lined with people to welcome the Lord Lytton Commission this morning.

The party were officially met aboard the Tuckoo by Mr. Lo Wu-kan, the Foreign Minister. They then motored through the streets escorted by officers of the Moral Endeavour Society, where they are quartering.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei is entertaining them to lunch to-morrow, and a full programme has been fixed for the four days the Commission is expected to remain here.—Reuter.

Strict Rule Broken.

Shanghai, Mar. 27. As indicating the Chinese authorities' intention to show every possible courtesy to the Lytton Commission, the very strict rule against smoking and drinking on the premises of the officers of the Moral Endeavour Society was broken in their favour. Hitherto even military commanders and Government leaders were not granted such liberty.

There is a possibility that the Commission will proceed to Hankow after concluding their enquiry in Nanking.—Reuter Special.

Washington Riot.

Washington, Mar. 27. Several people were injured in a clash which occurred outside the Japanese Embassy when the police broke up a radical demonstration in which banners were carried denouncing Japanese imperialism in China.—Reuter's American Service.

BISHOP INDISPOSED.

FAREWELL SERMON AT ST. JOHN'S ON SUNDAY.

His Lordship, the Right Rev. C. R. Duppuy, Bishop of Victoria, who is severing his connexion with the Colony, is indisposed and has been confined to bed suffering from fever.

The Bishop of Victoria is due to leave Hongkong for Home shortly and is to preach his farewell sermon at St. John's Cathedral on Sunday next. Special arrangements are being made by other churches to permit their congregations to listen to the sermon, which will also be broadcast. The usual morning service at St. Peter's Church has been cancelled to allow worshippers to attend the Cathedral, whilst the parishioners of St. Andrew's Church hope to receive the sermon by radio.

CAR WITHOUT GEARS.

REMARKABLE BRITISH INVENTION.

Yesterday writes a London correspondent, saw the advent of a car that has no gear-box, yet has an infinite variety of rear axle drives from a high ratio of 5 to 1 to the lowest of 30 to 1.

I was a passenger in the first trip of this car, which will be available to the public next year, when a famous manufacturer will put it on the market as his 1933 "easy-to-drive" model.

Gear changing is abolished as regards the old-fashioned method of sliding gears. After the engine is started the driver has only to move a small lever on the steering wheel and the car glides away from rest whether it be on level ground or an uphill gradient of 1 in 3.

This new device, which is the invention of a British engineer, Mr. Robertson, of Tank fame, gives a direct drive so flexible that one can crawl at a speed of 1½ miles an hour; travel at 60 miles an hour on the level, and ascend steep hills which no ordinary car can climb.

The secret is a hydraulic-controlled friction clutch drive which allows the driver to select the ratio suitable for the occasion by moving the lever on the steering wheel up or down. The lever controls the action of a tiny oil pump which acts as a hydraulic ram, engaging on the clutch flywheel. No clutch pedal is required.

The new device gave the 8 h.p. car tested all the acceleration and climbing power of a car of four times its engine rating. We jumped from slow to fast speeds in a few seconds, while the driver simply kept his foot down on the accelerator pedal and moved the hydraulic control lever to the position giving the desired speed (and therefore gear ratio) to suit the occasion.

EXPLOSION IN A PILL-BOX.

PROFESSOR BADLY INJURED.

Bristol, Feb. 27. Dr. W. E. Garner, Professor of Physical Chemistry at Bristol University, was severely injured by an explosion of chemicals in a cellar at the University to-day.

His condition is stated to be serious. Dr. Garner had arranged to give a lecture on explosives at the Royal Institution in London and he went to the cellar where chemicals are stored to obtain a supply for experiment.

In a Pill Box. He was carrying six milligrammes, equal to about half a dozen pinheads, in a pill box, and it was this which exploded.

Dr. Garner staggered from the cellar into a passage, and was found there with his hand badly injured, his face burned, and suffering from shock.

An ambulance officer who was in the building gave first-aid, and the professor was later removed to the Royal Infirmary in a motor-car.

A Safe Explosive. "Such an explosion has never occurred here before," said an official at the University. "These things do happen occasionally. For some unknown reason, what is a perfectly safe explosive goes off under the most unexpected conditions. It will probably never happen again. Dr. Garner is a very careful experimenter and worked at Woolwich during the war."

Dr. Garner has been Professor of Physical Chemistry at the University since 1927. Born in 1889, he was a lecturer in chemistry at the University of Birmingham in 1919.

WORK FOR 3,000.

PATRIOTIC OFFER BY JERSEY FARMERS.

The farmers of Jersey, who find a ready market in England for their early produce, are making a patriotic gesture which should assist in relieving to an extent the unemployment problem.

Some 3,000 agricultural workers will be required in May to deal with the early potato and tomato crops in the Island. Previously the labour has been imported from Brittany, but this year efforts are to be made to absorb surplus labour from Great Britain.

The terms offered are attractive. Passengers will be provided, both ways. The Farmers' Union of Jersey will send to selected centres in England a deputation to interview prospective workers.

IF HOGARTH CAME BACK.

THE SILENT FILM AS MEDIUM.

Themes for the genius of William Hogarth, the great English painter and pictorial satirist, had been alive to-day, were enumerated by Mr. Herbert Hubbard, in a lecture at the Royal Society of Arts.

"Instead of 'The Lottery,'" Mr. Hubbard remarked, "he would paint 'The Irish Sweepstakes,' 'Women making up in Public' would take the place of 'Strolling Actresses Dressing in a Barn,' 'Marriage à la Mode' would become 'Divorce à la Mode.' The dole would offer him another 'Industry and Idleness'; instead of 'The Snake Coach' he would depict the departure of a motor-coach. For 'Beer-street' and 'Gin-lane' and 'Cocktail Court,' 'False Perspectives Exemplified' would, without alteration, summarise his reaction to modernistic art. In the frame of 'The Cock Pit' would be 'The Dirt Track' or 'Dog Racing.'"

"He would have let himself go over another 'Election' series. Mr. Gandhi, Steve Donoghue, 'Dora,' Dean Inge, and Charlie Chaplin would occupy the throne in his studio."

Celluloid for Canvas.

"Could he have kept away from Epsom? Mr. Hubbard asked. "With his sense of the theatre I believe celluloid would have taken the place of canvas with him. I wished, he wrote, 'to compose pictures similar to representations on the stage.'"

I have endeavoured to treat my subject as a dramatic writer; my pictures as my stage, and men and women my players, who, by means of certain actions and gestures, are to exhibit a dumb show. The silent film, not the talkie, would have been his medium.

"A Harlot's Progress." A Rake's Progress, "Marriage à la Mode," are not these the plots of more than 75 per cent. of the films we see to-day?"

WAR DEBTS.

APPEAL BY CHURCHES AND PUBLIC MEN.

Professors, leading Churchmen and business men have given their signatures to a declaration urging—

The cancellation of war indemnities and reparations.

The lightening of the crushing burden of taxation due to excessive armaments.

The lowering or removal of tariff barriers.

"With no lack of natural products or manufactured goods everywhere, the whole world is threatened with bankruptcy," states the declaration, which is published under the title of "The Interdependence of Nations."

"No one would deny that the circulation of goods is the life-blood of national and international commerce. We therefore affirm that the only way to renewed prosperity is the removal of all hindrances to the free flow of goods and commodities and to unhampered intercourse between the nations...."

The Signatories.

Among the signatories to the declaration are those of: M. E. Aubrey (secretary, Baptist Union of Great Britain and Ireland), the Rev. Dr. Berry (secretary, Congregational Union of England and Wales), Sir William Beveridge (director, London School of Economics), the Rev. Carey Bonner (president, Baptist Union), the Bishop of Ripon, Lord Cowdray, the Rev. C. Jackson (president-designate, United Methodist Church), the Rev. Dr. J. Scott Lidgett (Vice-Chancellor, London University), the Right Rev. R. G. Parsons, Bishop of Middleton, Major H. L. Nathan, M.P., Lord Rhyader, Lord Rochdale, Dr. Maude Royden, the Archbishop of York, the Bishop of Manchester and the Rev. K. Harrop White (president, General Assembly of the Unitarian and Free Christian Churches).

DARTMOOR ATTACK.

INJURY TO CONVICT WHO WAS LOYAL DURING MUTINY.

Two Dartmoor convicts were reported recently to have been removed to the punishment cells following an attack on another prisoner who remained loyal during the mutiny.

The man attacked was taken to hospital with a broken jaw. Chief Inspector Hambrook and Sgt. Bell, the Scotland Yard detectives who have been making enquiries in Dartmoor Prison in connection with the mutiny, attended conferences at the office of the Director of Public Prosecutions and with officials at the Home Office.

AN EXCLUSIVE PROFESSION.

TOASTMASTERS BORN NOT MADE.

"Your Royal Highness, my lords, ladies and gentlemen, pray silence for..."

With arms outspread or raised according to taste, with mellow tones surging over the chattering throng, the scarlet coat brilliant among the black and white which is the motif of the gathering, the toastmaster impels every eye, stills every voice.

How does he do it? Is there a school for training toastmasters?

Do they take degrees? Are there text books on the subject and examinations? None of these things—toastmasters are born, not made.

That is the considered verdict of the handful of London toastmasters whose ranks have recently been depleted by the death of the doyen of them all, Mr. Knight-smith.

Years ago, tradition has it, the first toastmaster graduated from a railway station, where his sonorous renderings of station names won him the coveted rostrum at Lloyd's. A tale is told of the member who heard his name being shouted as he was emerging from Mansion House station and on the floor of Lloyd's before the last syllable had echoed itself to a standstill.

This is probably apocryphal, but there is no doubt that the exporter made a stir in the City.

To-day, with nearly every other business and profession in the doldrums, the toastmasters of London admit that they have more work to do than they can manage.

Tact and Patience.

The "complaint toastmaster" must have personality, good deportment, a good appearance, a good voice, experience of procedure, infinite tact, and more than man's usual share of patience.

Small wonder, then, that there are few toastmasters in London.

Now that Mr. Knight-smith is dead it is likely that his son will succeed him. Some years ago he assisted his father in the work, but left it for a prosperous garage business. Now he will almost certainly return to the scarlet coat and white gloves.

The other "leaders" of the profession are Mr. E. W. Poynter and Mr. Tinslay. Mr. Poynter, who emerged from the war with an M.C. and the rank of Captain, graduated to the ranks of toastmasters through being a guest.

On many occasions as he was called to his feet by Mr. Knight-smith, he wondered what it was like to be a toastmaster.

He made up his mind to find out and went to as many functions as he could to study the technique. Then he "tried it on the dog"—the society of which he was a member. Flushed with success he offered his services elsewhere and gradually founded his present extensive practice.

Most nights of the week during the dining-out season he has to employ deputies to take his place.

"Some years ago," he said, "practically only large official gatherings engaged a toastmaster. Smaller gatherings used to rely on a waiter with lamentable results. Gradually people began to see that apart from announcing the toasts the toastmaster had a way of making the whole function run smoothly. So our business grew."

THE DEPRESSION IN SWEDEN.

ECONOMIC BLIZZARD WEATHERING.

After lengthy negotiations new wage agreements have been concluded between the employers and the trade unions in three of Sweden's most important branches of industry, the machine works, the iron works and the wood industry. Negotiations for an agreement in the woodpulp industry are at present being carried on.

The three agreements resulted in a wage reduction for the machine and iron works of 4 to 6 per cent. and for the sawmill industry of 6 to 8 per cent.

The latest Riksbank report shows a continued improvement of the position of the bank through a further reduction of the note circulation by 12 million kronor to 499 millions, leaving an unused note reserve of 175 million kronor. At the same time the foreign currency reserve registered another increase by 3 millions to 80 million kronor.

The latest general report of the Swedish private banks shows a total improvement of the foreign balance of payments by 24 million kronor, leaving a net surplus of foreign claims of 811 million kronor.

Club Attack Fades Out. Borderers Snatch Victory.

JUNIOR TROPHY GOES TO R.A.

By "Wanderer."

Borderers 3 H.K.F. Club 2

The Club gave a good account of themselves, but the South Wales Borderers were masters in tactics throughout a keen game, which although not spectacular, abounded in thrills and exciting incidents. Only in the first twenty minutes were there real visions of a Club victory for the first time in ten years. In this period, the forwards, without being at all brilliant, were impressive. They took the short route for goal and Pote-Hunt's masterly ball manipulation opened up glorious opportunities to Howe and Gerrard.

The centre-forward netted from an easy position five minutes from the start, but he missed an equally good opening soon afterwards and Gerrard also drove badly wide when well placed. Had they scored—and the ball should have been sent into the net by four players out of five similarly placed—the result would have probably been vastly different. The Borderers' defence was at this time more than a little rattled, Morrison was hurt and went into the forward line and skilfully though Channings played at back the alterations in the half-back line lowered the standard of the play of the middle line startlingly.

But as the Borderers' half-backs showed signs of faltering, so did the Club forwards lose their punch and effectiveness. Now and again, Pote-Hunt played like a man inspired. He was at all times the dominating figure in the Club attack. His quickness at seeing an opening and his beautiful passes again and again left only the finishing-off work for his colleagues, but, largely through lack of anticipation, the opportunities were wasted.

Harris equalised Howe's goal with a great shot from close in ten minutes from the start, and four or five minutes later, Strange duked the lead for the Club, scoring from a seemingly impossible angle when Johnson ran out of his charge and failed to get hold of the ball in a scramble.

Davis equalised before the interval in somewhat similar fashion, though he was directly in front of goal when Rodger was obstructed by a colleague, giving Davis a simple shot into an unattended net.

The second half found the Borderers pressing steadily, with occasional dangerous-looking bursts by the Club which seldom, however, progressed beyond Channings and Mullane, the strong forces in the Borderers' defence. Channings particularly earned high praise. Going from centre-half to full-back, his kicking was splendidly clean and accurate and his interceptions were capitally timed.

The forwards were, nevertheless, having a trying time against a determined Club defence in which Baldwin, Foley and Strange were outstanding. Baldwin gave a great display against Davis and Harris, emerging with success from a large proportion of his tackles, while the amount of work he accomplished in covering his backs and lending himself to the attack was prodigious.

Strange always bobbed up in the right place at the critical moment. He got through a tremendous amount of work with marked judgment, while Foley backed him up splendidly though it seemed to be his error of judgment which led to the second goal.

The third and winning goal developed on the right wing, from a long kick which caught the Club defence unprepared. Even so, Davis seemed offside when he received the ball from Harris, though Jones, the actual scorer, was legitimately placed when he took a pass from Davis, who had carried the ball down and slipped it neatly at the right moment.

The Club carried on with pluck and persistency, but only five minutes remained for play, and the Borderers concentrated on defence, not being too earnest about keeping the ball in play. The Club compared favourably with their rivals in defence, but were without any definite plan of campaign. The only weakness

JUNIOR FINAL.

Artillery Two Big for R.A.F.

12th Battery 2 R.A.F. 1

I should imagine that the Artillery were about a stone heavier all round than the R.A.F. and this played an important part in their final victory. The R.A.F. fought pluckily against odds, and some of their dashing raids almost deserved better results.

The 12th Battery were much the sounder all-round team, however, and well merited their success. Allen and Moore obtained the goals, while the Airmen netted from a penalty.

VOLUNTEER SHOOT.

ANNUAL RIFLE MEETING DURING HOLIDAYS.

The annual rifle meeting of the Hongkong Volunteers took place at Stonecutters on Friday and Saturday. Conditions were good and some quite creditable scores were made. In the Blake Shield Competition the Engineer Company "A" team, despite the fact that their best shot was decidedly "off" at 500, put up a record score, beating last year's winners, No. 4 Platoon, by eight points. In the competition for the Franch Cup the Engineer Company again did well, winning fifteen points from No. 2 Platoon "B" team, who are to be congratulated on their fine effort. Both teams bent last year's winning score. The Rifle Competition was rendered difficult by a glare which made the tiles practically invisible, and under the circumstances No. 7 Platoon "B" team did well to break eight out of nine tiles. The Attack Competition produced a larger field than usual and considerably more short-windedness. No. 7 Platoon "A" won by one point from last year's winners, the Engineer Company.

The scores in the Musketry Competition were not as good as in former years. Sapper Salter and L/Sgt. Rosario took first and second places. The Corps Championship was closely contested between L. Westlake and C.Q.M.S. Grenham. Grenham did well in the first three practices, but dropped points at the 500. Both he and L. Westlake beat the previous best score for the championship—118 by L/Sgt. Britto two years ago. In the Open Revolver competition the shooting was not as good as last year, when five men obtained possible. P. Fletcher, who was second last year, tied with G.P.O. Clark with 29 and won the shoot-off. In the Corps Revolver competition L/Cpl. Lockhart was first with Pipe-Major Mackie second.

Detailed results follow:

DANUBIAN COMBINE.

PROPOSED CONFERENCE OF THE BIG POWERS.

Paris, Mar. 26.
That a Conference of Representatives of the Great Powers, including Britain, France, Italy and Germany meet, probably in Geneva, with a view to reaching a preliminary agreement with regard to the question of an Economic Pact between the Danubian States, is proposed by the British Government in a communication to the French Government with regard to the procedure to be followed for the conclusion of such a Pact. Direct negotiations with the Danubian States would follow the preliminary agreement.

M. Tardieu has already replied to the British communication, and well-informed circles opine that it is probable that a meeting between M. Tardieu, Sir John Simon, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Dr. Brüning and Signor Grandi will take place, presumably at Geneva, during the Disarmament Conference which is to resume on April 11.—Reuter's Special Service.

Germany Willing to Co-Operate.

Berlin, Mar. 27.
The Government has decided heartily to welcome the British Government's invitation to send a representative to an Anglo-French-Italian-German conference in London on the Danubian question, but

ITALIAN FOREIGN OFFICE STATEMENT.

Rome, Mar. 26.
The Foreign Office has issued a statement denying the "rumours attributing to Sig. Giunta's declaration a political character."—Reuter.

Malta, Mar. 27.
Presumably as a sequel to the Giunta incident, the Italian Consul has left Malta unexpectedly, it is believed for Rome.

Replying to the Italian Foreign Office statement, the Chronicle alleges that Signor Giunta on arrival at Malta vehemently attacked the Italian Consul, who is secretary of the local Fascist organisation, because they did not wear black shirts, when they boarded the steamer to receive him. The Consul tried to calm him, pointing out that the situation was delicate, but Giunta shouted, "You sheep! I want to hear no excuses. We must teach these English what Fascism is."

The Consul pointed out that they were on British territory and must be prudent, but Giunta angrily retorted, "Here we are in Italy, on the highway to the African empire, on the most Fascist highway Italy has."—Reuter.

WOMEN'S WORLD
FOR OUR LADY READERS.

JUST FOUR TIMES AS SMART!

A spring foursome that is very new and chic is made up of matching suede hat, gauntlet gloves, belt and purse. For early spring wear with a corded wool coat in the new bolge, a brimmed hat, overstitched gauntlet gloves, elongated flat purse and wide belt are made of soft green suede.

A BEAUTY HINT.

Cold water, cleansing cream, and a skin tonic are the three essentials for giving your skin a good cleansing in the mornings.

First, give face and neck a swift wash with a cleansing cream, wiping it off neatly so that no smudges of cream show in the little depressions in the face such as those about the eyes and nostrils. After that splash the face freely with cold water cupped in the hands. Then cup the hands round the jawbone and slap each cheek upward fifteen or twenty times. Dry the face and apply the skin tonic.

This should be applied on a wad of cotton-wool and the skin patted briskly with the cushions of the fingers until it is absolutely dry. This will leave the whole skin stimulated and glowing.

A word of warning—never press down on the face when patting in a tonic, or when applying any skin preparation. Much damage is done when the cheeks are being constantly dragged down, while constant upward pressure braces the muscles and prevents the face from sagging.

Very Graceful.

This frock in a National Silk Dye Exhibit uses a new version of the old black-white theme diagonally to achieve a graceful line, heightened by the wide-belted area and made even more charming by full sleeves.

OUR FACES.

Make-Up Colour for the New Mode.

Beauty experts have drawn out a chart giving details of the make-up colours for the new mode. This was done by testing various blends of rouge and powder on six girls of different types who were all "dressed" with lengths of material in each of the new colours.

One of these shades, banana beige, demands a certain amount of yellow in the make-up. But a point which puzzles many women is that an orange lipstick and paste rouge come out pink, with no hint of yellow, when they apply it to their selves. The reason is that they have a certain amount of acidity in their system, which turns the yellow pink. This can be counteracted, a little by dusting a yellowish rouge powder over a foundation of paste rouge, and using a banana powder.

Every shade of blue, from deepest sapphire and royal blue, through cornflower to sky blue, will be fashionable this spring. As every make-up, to be successful, should contain a hint of the colour worn nearest the face, unless that colour is already present in the natural shading of the complexion, blue frocks require lipstick and rouge of a bluish red. Eye shadow should be blue.

Reds are nearly as fashionable as blues. For make-up purposes they are divided into two classes—reds with a yellowish tinge, and rose-reds. All the former require a tinge of yellow in the make-up, with flame lipstick and bronze eye shadow, but the rose-red frock demands rich colouring to match.

The new pastel shades are more limpid and altogether clearer than they were a year or two ago. Water green, rose, corn, grey-green, and egg-shell blue, in pale shades, will be popular. For these the make-up is kept light, with an eye shadow to blend with the colour of the eyes.

Lovely New Shade.
Orchid rose is being used in Paris for evening gowns. It is a lovely colour, rather like cyclamen, and most becoming to people who are inclined to be sallow. Brunettes

TROPICAL HOSIERY.

Colours Easily Visualised.

There is a tropical note about stockings for the spring, for the name of nearly every colour has its origin in the lands of the sun.

You may choose between Arab and Algiers, beneshkin, caravan, sandee, dusker, nomad, negrita, Brazil, or brunette. Or, not quite so new, there are prairie, mohawk, mulatto, or Roman.

They are so descriptive, these names, that you may visualise the colours without actually seeing them. And they cover so wide a range that there will be no difficulty in obeying the injunctions of the famous dress designers to pick up the colours of each suit or frock in the stockings.

"Sandee" and "dusker" are definite colours, but they also describe the two groups of shades which will be fashionable this spring. All sandy shades, also known as French tan, are for wear with light frocks, while the darker or dusky colours should tone with coats and suits.

Where texture is concerned, there is as yet no rival to the popular fish-net stockings, which are still selling well, but in a more openwork weave.

Crope stockings in a fine gauge are being made by British manufacturers and are becoming increasingly popular. The main effect is obtained by a tight twist given to the thread before weaving.

wearing this colour should choose a dark, rich rouge—blondes can wear with it a bluish rose make-up. For both, clear blue eye shadow is best. Eye shadow should always be used to accentuate the colour of the eyes, but it must also harmonise with the colour of the frock. An effective trick is to apply eye shadow to harmonise with the frock over the lid, and then to take a very little of the colour of the eyes and apply just a spot over the pupil.

A hazel or green-eyed woman wearing blue would use bronze shadow with a spot of green in the centre of the eyelid.

CRASH-PROOF PLANE.
REMARKABLE INVENTION OF FRENCH AVIATOR.

Paris, Mar. 26.
—Evading the attentions of the Police, who refused to allow him to demonstrate his invention, M. Albert Euvant, a French Engineer who claims to have invented a crash-proof plane, gave a striking illustration of the possibilities of his machine yesterday, when he crashed 500 feet down a precipice and escaped unhurt.

The fuselage crashed down the mountain side and turned six somersaults, creating a deafening din, and landed with a terrible crash.

Aviator Unhurt.
Onlookers gasped with amazement when they saw M. Sauvann emerge unscathed from the damaged fuselage. He afterwards demonstrated that the steel case, crash-proof section of the fuselage was undamaged.

M. Sauvann now wants to be allowed to crash to a height of 3,000 feet. He has already experimented with model aeroplanes and crashed one from a height of 650 feet with a live lamb, and another from 750 feet with a basket of eggs. The lamb was unhurt and the eggs unbroken.—Reuter's Special Service.

LESSON-SERMON.
FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG.

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was, "Since the beginning of the world, man have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him." (Isaiah 64: 4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible, "Finally, Brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." (Phil. 4: 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, "Life, Truth, and Love are the realities of divine Science. They dawn in faith and glow full-orbed in spiritual understanding. As a cloud hides the sun it cannot extinguish, so false belief suffices for a while the voice of immutable harmony, but false belief cannot destroy Science armed with faith, hope, and fruition. THE WILL TO PEACE.

"A great task but also a great opportunity" is the way in which I.M. the King recently described present efforts to achieve international disarmament. At a time when the whole world is struggling in face of enormous economic, political and financial difficulties, the opponents of the new world order, of which the League of Nations is both the symbol and the instrument, have mobilised their forces and come out into the open with their hostility. The League has been accused on account of its trifling expense, while the reluctance of the individual Governments to use its machinery to stop the conflict in the Far East has given the critics further ammunition to fire at Geneva. The British Empire, they have urged, should turn its back on Europe and work out its own salvation. No reasonable statesman, it is significant to note, has taken part in this campaign. Perhaps the King's words will make those who have listened to specious arguments think twice. "While every nation must work out its own restoration to prosperity," declares His Majesty, "this duty need not conflict with obligations towards fellow members of the community of nations." And again, "The well-being of the world and the well-being of our own country depend on the same causes and are inseparable."

At the moment, the Disarmament Conference delegates are enjoying a brief respite from their labours, but all the Great Powers have already laid their proposals on the table. Three of them, Great Britain, the United States and Italy, are in substantial agreement on several important points, including the abolition of submarines and heavy guns. Italy goes farther in wanting the abolition also of tanks, of battle-ships and battle cruisers, of naval aircraft carriers and of bombing aeroplanes. The U.S.A. would put restrictions on tanks, Great Britain and Japan favour a reduction in the size of capital ships. Japan also proposes the abolition of aerial bombardment. Great Britain stands alone in demanding what, of course, has not a ghost of a chance of being carried—the limitation of conscription. Everyone, France not excepted, proposes the abolition of gas and bacteriological warfare. It would seem to the plain man that something ought to emerge from all this, and we hope that something will. On paper, at least there is a large measure of agreement, except for France and one or two of her satellites. If the French can be persuaded to put the horse before the cart (and if Japan can be restrained from upsetting both horse and cart), the Conference may yet confound the pessimists.

There can be no doubt that the League of Nations is passing through the most critical period in its history. A big failure at this stage would wash out all memory of its many and conspicuous successes during the past twelve years. Altogether it would be surprising if such a new experiment as the League were perfect. One essential feature of success, in any problem confronting the League, must be a willingness among the 56 countries forming the League to use its machinery for the benefit of the community of nations. Recently a recrudescence of selfish nationalism, at the same time the cause and the consequence of the world-wide depression, has led to the statesmen neglecting the principles on which the League is founded. In spite of temporary setbacks, however, it is certain that the League ideals are still the only hope of our modern civilisation from international anarchy and probably chaos. "Nothing is more essential," said the King on a former occasion, "than a strong and enduring League of Nations." Recent events show the need for further support on the part of public opinion, since the League has obviously not yet become firmly entrenched in the hearts and minds of men.

Altogether it would be surprising if such a new experiment as the League were perfect. One essential feature of success, in any problem confronting the League, must be a willingness among the 56 countries forming the League to use its machinery for the benefit of the community of nations. Recently a recrudescence of selfish nationalism, at the same time the cause and the consequence of the world-wide depression, has led to the statesmen neglecting the principles on which the League is founded. In spite of temporary setbacks, however, it is certain that the League ideals are still the only hope of our modern civilisation from international anarchy and probably chaos. "Nothing is more essential," said the King on a former occasion, "than a strong and enduring League of Nations." Recent events show the need for further support on the part of public opinion, since the League has obviously not yet become firmly entrenched in the hearts and minds of men.

MR. BALDWIN AND CIDER.AN INVITATION TO LORD IRWIN.

"The veneration of the countryside, which is the parent of most of the things that are best in England and English life"—a phrase used by Lord Irwin—exemplified the spirit of the Worcestershire Association dinner in London.

Mr. Baldwin, who presided, had on other side of him Lord Irwin, who is a Yorkshireman, and Viscount Ednam, who is a well-known Worcester man. Mr. Justice McCardie, a Warwickshire man, sat between Lady Leigh, wife of Lord Leigh, the Lord Lieutenant of Warwickshire, and Mrs. Baldwin.

There were ringing cheers when a waiter marched solemnly up to the top table carrying a gigantic pipe fashioned in ice. No one laughed more than Mr. Baldwin.

Mr. W. Lionel Moore, a Worcestershire farmer, proposed the toast of "Our President" and told one or two homely stories about Mr. Baldwin. One of them was:

"On a certain Christmas holiday when Mr. Baldwin was first Minister of the Crown, he was spending it at Astley, and he rose on Boxing Day morning with very good resolutions. He planned a walk from Astley to Malvern, a distance of some fifteen or twenty miles. He set off after breakfast with a very reluctant party, and after they had been going for an hour or two their feet faltered outside the doors of a well-known country hostelry. A hasty conference was held and the then Prime Minister of Great Britain led a wholly unanimous party into the 'Aye' lobby." (Laughter).

Mr. Moore, with the company still rocking with laughter, said that he was delighted to report on the improvement in the habits of Cabinet Ministers.

"Whereas," he said, "Pitt was typical of the two-bottle age, the great statesman we have in the Chair to-night represents typically the one-bottle period." (Laughter).

Mrs. Baldwin's Comment.

Mr. Baldwin, in reply, said that he would never be satisfied until he had brought Lord Irwin to Worcestershire and they had drunk a quart of cider with Mr. Lionel Moore.

"Pitt," interpolated Mrs. Baldwin, "turned round to his wife. 'I know the difference between the two.'" (Renewed laughter).

"I once asked a farmer in Worcestershire what he wanted for his horse," proceeded Mr. Baldwin. "He said, 'Protection, and I want the foreign hops kept out.'" (Laughter).

Mr. Baldwin added: "I said to him, 'What do you mean by foreign?' He said, 'Hereford.'" (Laughter).

Mr. Baldwin told a story of a Worcestershire farmer friend of his who, when finding some Post Office men putting up telegraph poles in his field, was given a sheet of printed instructions by them. The old farmer turned a bull into the field, and as the Post Office men

POLITICAL REPUTATIONS ARE MADE BY SAYING WHAT YOU THINK, AND THEY ARE KEPT BY SAYING WHAT YOU DON'T THINK.—John Oliver Hobbes.

The Empress of Canada is due here from Yokohama on April 1st 9 a.m.

Lieut. Commr. G. N. Rawlings has been appointed to Marazion and to Bruce on transfer.

The many friends of Mrs. Harry Woods will be pleased to hear that she is recovering rapidly from an operation performed on her head at the Victoria Hospital.

Inspector F.E.E. Booker of the Hongkong Police Force returned to the Colony yesterday from Wellinwell where he enlisted a batch of Shanghai recruits for the Force.

Suffering from a wound to her head caused by a piece of wood falling from the first floor of a new house in Great George Street, Chai Sin (22) of 18, Russell Street was removed to the Government Civil Hospital yesterday.

A brick maker of the Wing Cheung building contractor's matched, of Fa Yuen Street, was taken to the Kwong Wah Hospital yesterday suffering from injuries to his right hand caused whilst working on a brick machine.

The report that the police have effected an arrest in the Happy Valley murder case turns out to be incorrect. Several people have been questioned in connexion with the outrage, but so far none has been detained.

Amongst the passengers who left by the P. and O. s.s. Rajputana were Mr. and Mrs. C. Atkinson, Mr. T.F. Claxton, Mr. A.H. Compton, Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Groundwater, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hedley, Rev. Bro. James, Mrs. E. J.R. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morris, Mrs. F. Maitland, Major D.H. Somerville, and Mrs. Whyte-Smith.

Our Wuchow correspondent states that the paper money issued by the Kwangsi Provincial Government several months ago is greatly in evidence in the business houses and the banking establishments of Wuchow. In fact, it is preferred by the merchants because the exchange rate of the paper currency is higher than the rate of silver specie.

With reference to a report that the management of the Canton-Kowloon Railway proposes to speed up the present through express trains on the line, it is understood, says the Canton Gazette, that Mr. Chan Kwan-yok, managing director of the Railway, has called a meeting of the engineering staff to discuss definite measures for the realization of the project. A saving of 20 minutes is found to be possible in the running time, and if no unforeseen obstacles arise, it will be possible to run a train between Canton and Kowloon in 2 hours and 58 minutes beginning with the 1st of May next.

rushed out he said to them, "Have you shown the bull your instructions?"

"The surface of the country may change," Mr. Baldwin said, "the bungalows may come along and the new roads and the charabancs may pour their contents into the remotest parts of our region but the soul of the countryside will live yet. If it perishes there will be left with it nine-tenths of what has made this country great."

and litch, the wife says you must come along to dinner.

INFLUENCE IN BUSINESS!

Geniuses, Bluffers, Pushers, and Plodders.

YOUNG Man," writing the other day, voiced a point of view which has been stale since the Assyrian Empire. "Influence," "Favouritism," "Nepotism" have been the cries of the less fortunate since the first civilisation. And of course, superficially, their case is unanswerable.

The world is a very unfair place, where virtue is usually unrewarded and birth, "bounce," and money monopolise the prizes. From the individual's point of view, then, "Young Man" is undoubtedly right. It is when he assumes that such a state of affairs is necessarily inefficient that he is on shaky ground.

His statement is founded on two fallacies; the first that good subordinates make good commanders, the second that superiors can distinguish between real virtue and "push," "bounce," and flattery among their inferiors. They are all convinced they can distinguish, but we have only to look on the successful self-made men, whether of commerce or politics, to see that they are very far from being an ideal type, however selected.

Of men at the head of affairs in all walks of life, politics, business, the services, and the professions, some are there through "bounce" and some through influence. Would anyone seriously contend that the former are of more value to their country than the latter?

Selection in the Services

In the fighting services the principles of selection by merit are more nearly adhered to than in civilian life, but would anyone suggest that there is anything like the brilliance and personality in the senior ranks as when Nelson, Wellington, or Marlborough led?

The late war, with its endless slaughter and futile waste, was the crowning condemnation of a system of promotion by merit. Its commanders were all good subordinates. Genius, real leadership is killed by such a system.

Under present conditions it is most unlikely that the man who is going to make a great success at the top will ever be picked out for conspicuous ability at the bottom. Only the grossest favouritism could have brought Nelson, an eccentric disobedient weakling, to high command; the corrupt, pleasure-loving Marlborough would have been cashiered as a subaltern.

As Britain rose irresistibly to be the greatest Power in the world, her military and political leaders reached their positions by birth. Her commerce was built by some succeeding fathers, trained by the beginning to the leadership of Britain no longer lend the world; if, as "Young Man" suggests, we are losing our grip, it may well be that our business and our politics are in the hands of pushful bluffers on the one hand and uninspired plodders on the other.

The very qualities which make great leaders are a handicap to subordinates. Imagination, enterprise, unorthodoxy, of what use are these to a clerk compared with humdrum honesty and competency?

How many employers are going to choose an argumentative arrogant idler for promotion? Yet the potential leader is ten to one impatient and bored with the dull routines of the underling.

We are Not Bad
Linguists!

By Alexander Berry.

BUT the English can be good linguists—if they like. The Czech doctor sat in his rather too modern consulting-room (steel furniture as a protest against the barbarism without) in that remote finger of Czechoslovakia, pinched between Poland, Rumania, and Hungary.

I had apologised for my poor German and my non-existent Czech, Rutenian, Polish, Rumanian, Hungarian, and Yiddish. These languages are familiar to the doctor, the grocer across the road, the Jewish innkeeper next door, and a great many other people in Mukacevo.

The doctor smiled politely; "but the English can be good linguists—if they like. There are a few languages in India, are there not? I have heard that there are Englishmen who can speak some of them."

He spoke without irony, and with the placid seriousness of his race. I felt that I had been mildly reproved. It was excuse, you know.

"Stopped off at Lisbon on the way home. First time I've ever been abroad, so to speak. I mean I don't call Nigeria abroad. Felt a bit out of it, not being able to speak the language. Never was much good at foreign tongues. Usual school French, of course, but—"

I looked at him with a new interest. He was rather a lumpy schoolboy as I remembered him last; pleasantly frank, but with no noticeable mental glow. Now, a very Assistant Commissioner, after three years in the neighbourhood of Lako Chud he had filled out physically and mentally. The sign "administrator" was just beginning to be discernible upon his brow.

"Then what," I asked, "do you speak in Nigeria?" "Hausa, but that's different. Amusing language to learn; wonderful range of expression you can get out of it. Vocabulary of about ten thousand. Some words rather like Welsh."

"Welsh?" "Yes, I remembered a snatch or two from a Snowdon holiday, and it struck me that a few of the Hausa words had a familiar ring. Had a Welsh grammar sent out and started comparing—but for fun. I'm learning one of the Santa dialects, too. Don't have to, of course, but you never know."

RADIUM AND CANCER.

'BOMB' TREATMENT
TO BE GIVEN UP.

EXPERTS DEMAND AN INQUIRY.

In the last report of the National Radium Commission it was stated that the "four-gramme bomb" of radium was to be given up as a mode of treatment.

This decision was received with some consternation among certain experts, who have now issued a strongly worded and carefully reasoned request for an inquiry into the matter. Radium treatment in England has been constantly dogged by unfortunate experiences. It took the surgical profession some time to get over their prejudice against radium, and learn how to use it in combination with surgery, and our clinics up to a few years ago were behind those in Europe and America as far as equipment and personnel were concerned.

The National Commission has at any rate improved the position in regard to the supply of radium, the general equipment of clinics, and in the training of personnel, but the methods of using radium are still to a large extent experimental, and a special method like that of the four-gramme bomb requires years of careful study before it can be pronounced beneficial or not.

In other centres, such as those in Paris, Stockholm, Brussels, Vienna, and New York, the "bomb" method of using large quantities of radium is still employed or has been recently introduced. It is unlikely, judging by past experiences in the matter, that the authorities in England are ahead of these centres in discarding the method, and before the four grammes of radium are distributed all over the country in small units the matter should be the subject of a special inquiry.

Dangerous Aspect.

It may be argued that the National Radium Commission is itself an authoritative committee, and its pronouncements as valuable as those of any other committee. But there is a feeling that the main question of the value of the "bomb" method has been overshadowed by the details of housing and using this large amount of radium. Special apparatus, a special building, and carefully-trained staff are necessary for manipulating so much radium, and the work is not without its very dangerous side. These difficulties, should not, however, be allowed to influence the decision on the value of the treatment.

If there are some cases of cancer which can be cured or improved by the "bomb" and by no other way, then the "bomb" must be available, or the functions of a National Commission are not being carried out faithfully. It is sincerely hoped that the matter will be fully ventilated before action is taken, which may well put back the clock of radium treatment in England.

SOVIET BARBARITY.

UNPARALLELED CRUELTY TO MOLDAVIAN PEASANTS.

Bucharest, Mar. 27.
Russia is likely to appear before the bar of the League of Nations, according to the Prime Minister, Mr. Nicolae Jorga, in a speech in the Chamber of Deputies.

He declared that "unparalleled barbarism was the only description of the Soviet's treatment of the Moldavian peasants trying to cross the frontier into Rumania." He added that "it was of daily occurrence that peasants were shot dead or left to die on the ice when they attempted to flee from Russia."

As Rumania has no diplomatic relations with Russia they are presenting a report to the League of Nations.—Reuter.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

Dianna Beaumont, who plays Flora Akeley in "Alibi" was also in the original stage production for some time. She tells an amusing story of how one night Charles Laughton, who played the leading part, had to snatch a newspaper out of her hands. He did it in such good effect that he pushed her at the same time. She overbalanced and landed with a thump on the floor of the stage. Mr. Laughton stood for this very charmingly by sending out for some "Zambuk," and formally presenting her with a tin. I understand that the bruises were quickly healed.

"Alibi" is Dianna Beaumont's first talkie, and she has been very successful in it. Apart from possessing unusual good looks, she is a stage actress of experience and although only just twenty-one, has played leading parts in "The Middle Watch," and "The Black Sheep."

The striking British production, "Alibi," is coming to the Queen's Theatre on Thursday. Incidentally, Dianna happens to be a niece of Sir Gerald du Maurier.

"Around the World in 80 Minutes." Those who have not seen "Around the World in 80 Minutes" should not forget to attend the Central Theatre during the next two days.

To compare this picture with any previous record of travels would not be logical. For while it contains all the vivid reality of a journey to strange lands, it is told in Fairbanks' amusing manner. Even in its reality there is illusion and magic, there are heroes and heroines, there is lavish spectacle. But above all there is humour of a type that transforms the bizarre scenes and Arabian Nights colour of the Orient into sudden laughter. In editing his film Fairbanks had the collaboration of Robert Sherwood whose keen wit is known to the public through his magazine essays and stage comedies.

There is a sparkle to the new Fairbanks film that keeps the audience amused throughout. It also has the further merit of being worthwhile from an instructional as well as an entertainment standpoint. It is the sort that sophisticated grownups will want to see and will not hesitate to bring children to, for there is enough adventure, novelty, thrills, and romance to gratify the wildest tastes in amusements.

ACQUITTAL OF A DIPLOMAT.

SUCCESSFUL DEFENCE TO MURDER CHARGE.

Berlin, Feb. 17.
Amid scenes unprecedented in an Austrian court of law, Manuel Gedy, an attaché of Guatemala in London, was acquitted of the charge of murder, and immediately set free.

Senior Gedy was arrested in St. George, Upper Austria, last October, after he had shot dead his brother-in-law, Max Reinhard, a German electrician. Senior Gedy, who had broken off a holiday in Paris immediately after receiving an urgent telegram for help from his sister, has always contended that his brother-in-law wished to bring about his wife's death in order to secure 20,000 dollars, for which he had recently insured her life.

At the trial considerable evidence was brought both to support this statement and to show that Reinhard had treated Senior Gedy's sister in a grossly inhuman fashion. In consequence of this she died a few hours after her husband had been shot.

The trial had only taken two days, and the jury returned a unanimous decision after a withdrawal of only three minutes.

The Charge d'Affaires in London and Berlin were present in court, and hastened to embrace their countryman the moment he was released. An enormous crowd of rejoicing sympathisers escorted Senior Gedy and his friends to his hotel.

CRICKET LEAGUE.

CRAIGENGOWER WIN AGAINST R.A.S.C.

Now that the championship in the First Division of the Cricket League has been decided, keenness in the game is centered in the Second Division, where the Indians and the Kowloon C.C. are in close rivalry. Next Saturday will see a decision reached in this game, and then the season will be virtually at an end. The concluding matches will be the Champions against the Rest of the League, which two games are scheduled to be played on April 9.

On Saturday, there was only one League match played, the Craigengower C.C. defeating the Royal Army Service Corps. The two-day fixture between the Kowloon Club and the Hongkong Cricket Club was begun, and at the close of play, the Club were in decidedly the better position. The Kowloon Juniors entertained the Club Seconds and won comfortably. Playing at Happy Valley, the Craigengower Seconds batted out for 55 runs, the military men for only 35 runs, with any confidence, and remaining unbeaten with 32 runs. The home team ran up a total of 116 runs. Whitley followed up his good batting by taking five wickets for 29 runs. Scores:

HOME FOOTBALL.

TWO MEN CARRIED OFF FIELD.

London, Mar. 28.
Alex. James, the inside left of the Arsenal, R. Dix, (of Bristol Rovers) and S. Cowan, the centre half of Manchester City, were all carried off the field on Saturday when they received severe injuries during the League matches which were played in England during the Easter programme.

James was playing inside left for the Arsenal against West Ham, at Upton Park and, during the game, received a kick on his knee which paralyzed a nerve. He collapsed on the field and was carried off in an unconscious condition. The injury, fortunately, is not of a serious nature but James will not be able to play for a short while. The match was a draw, each side scoring once.

During the match at Cleethorpes between Grimsby Town and Manchester City, S. Cowan who was playing in the pivotal position for the visiting side, was injured and had to be carried off the field.

R. Dix, of Bristol Rovers, received a nasty injury to his head in the match against Luton at Rovers' Ground in the Southern Section of the Third Division, the hosts winning by three goals to one. Dix collided with the goalkeeper and was carried off the field unconscious.

Wolves maintained their lead at the top of the Second Division and are now one point ahead of Leeds.

In the match between Sheffield United and Bolton at Burnden Park, J. Milne of Bolton performed the "trick" of the week, winning by three goals to one—Our Own Correspondent.

TENNIS IN CANTON.

VICTORY FOR S. A. RUMJAHN AGAINST LEUNG.

An interesting and exciting tennis match took place on Friday afternoon at the Canton Citizen Club between the tennis star Leung Tak-kyong and S. A. Rumjahn, a leading Hongkong tennis player.

It was a perfectly even match, but Rumjahn who was steady throughout the game finally won by three sets to one. The first set was won by Leung at 6-2, the remaining sets going to Rumjahn at 5-7, 1-0, 4-0. The second set should have been won by Leung 6-1, but lost the set, through his inexperience.—Canton Gazette.

Kowloon Seconds Win.

On the Hongkong Club ground, the home side were defeated by the Kowloon Juniors by 96 runs. The Kowloon side, by consistent scoring, was defeated with 40 runs; A. R. F. Raven collected 60 runs and A. A. Dand 27 runs. The Club seconds failed badly, and were all dismissed for 83 runs. Starter took 5 wickets for 11 runs and G. Leo 3 for 10 runs.

I.R.C. Inter-Club Match.

At Soekunpo, a team captained by Mr. A. A. Rumjahn defeated M. E. Abbas's eleven by 20 runs. The Kowloon side totalled 70 runs, for 5 wickets. Mr. Abbas's side scored 50 runs, A. E. Khan scoring 25 runs, and H. D. Rumjahn 25.

HE PAID PYORRHEA'S PRICE NEEDLESSLY

CARELESS, thoughtless neglect that is the blame. Once he was healthy, energetic and ambitious. He had many friends who admired him, particularly his pleasant, ready smile.

Now he is ashamed to smile, but even that hardly matters, for he sits at home alone, broken down, sick and forlorn. He saw the danger signals years ago. But did nothing! At first his gums bled when he brushed his teeth. Finally, one day one of his teeth dropped out or had to be pulled out.

You may have pyorrhea now. Protect yourself from its effects. Every morning and evening use Forhan's toothpaste. Brush your teeth with this scientific dentifrice. It not only cleans and whitens your teeth, but, most important of all, it prevents pyorrhea.

Forhan's for the Gum is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., specialist in mouth diseases. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Antiseptic, specially Dr. Forhan's and used by dentists throughout the world in the treatment of pyorrhea.

pl responsibility and a capacity for sacrifice that Mrs. Hill feared even Erintrude might be unable to match.

Uncle Chaney suggested, "Maybe the little girls would relish a slice of the cake." (He wanted to see it cut, the fox, and hear the exclamations over the white velvet of its texture.) "Easle said the oven was acting up a little, but I shouldn't wonder if it would be fit to eat, anyway."

Mrs. Hill hesitated only a second before she said bravely (after all, it was Uncle Chaney's cake, though she had intended to have shortcake to-night and save the angel food for tomorrow, when she might ask the Mercers in), "Bring me the cake knife, please, honey."

Honey brought the cake knife in a flash. Mary-Frances walked toward the door. Large virtue lies within a man who knows his own limitations. "Don't cut any for me, thank you, Mrs. Hill," she said. "I don't care for any right now."

"I'll have a piece," said Erintrude. "No, you won't," said Mrs. Hill. Cookies in hand, Erintrude joined Mary-Frances on the front porch. She said, "You do love him, don't you, Mary-Frances? I mean, you do really love him deeply and truly and everything," and took another large bite, and crumbs fell where they listed.

"Um," said Mary-Frances, and looked away; perhaps into the roseate, ovation-flooded future—perhaps into a pantry or an ice box. The cookies crunched and crunched.

"Love," said Mary-Frances furiously, "is well it's just a perfectly thrilling, awful thing. It's well, just perfectly awful, I mean."

"Um," said Erintrude, and licked her fingers.

AUSTRALIAN IN COURT.

CHARGED WITH ARMS POSSESSION.

Described as a native of Binda village, New South Wales, Australia, J. A. Pagett, aged 31, unemployed, appeared before Mr. Wynne Jones at the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of being in possession of an automatic pistol and seven rounds of ammunition in Johnston Road, Wanchai, yesterday.

Detective Sergeant Kennedy, who prosecuted, applied for 24 hours remand and asked that bail be made rather substantial. He suggested $2,500.

The defendant said he was a stranger to the Colony, having no friends whatever in Hongkong, and it was impossible for him to find bail. He had been working in Manila and had come to Hongkong with only $24 in his possession. He thought he would do the best he could for himself and tried to sell the revolver in order to raise money as he desired to go to Canton. He did not know the laws of Hongkong and was unaware that he was violating them in trying to sell the weapon.

His Worship remarked that in that case it was of no use offering the defendant bail, but he would have to fix the sum at $2,500 as applied for by the police.

The defendant was accordingly remanded until to-morrow.

MR. DRINAN'S SIGNATURES.

TEN ALLEGED FORGERIES.

The extradition warrant issued by the British Government against Mr. Charles James Beale, the former British Vice-Consul at Nice, was brought before the court of appeal at Aix.

The warrant was issued in connection with charges under the British Forgery Act. Mr. Beale, it is alleged, made fraudulent use of official documents and stamps in connection with the supposed transfer of stock from the late Mr. Drinan, a rich reclusive, to the late Mr. J. Haiat.

M. Kahn, the Public Prosecutor, read a statement by Mr. Gerald F. Gurrin, a handwriting expert, of Holborn Viaduct, London, in which Mr. Gurrin declared that he had examined eleven documents purporting to bear Mr. Drinan's signature. In his opinion, all save one of the signatures were false.

Miss Dora Drinan, daughter of the late Mr. Drinan, declares that the signatures are authentic. Mr. Beale's counsel emphasised his excellent reputation, and while admitting that he had possibly committed a professional error, argued that there was not sufficient evidence to justify extradition.

Fire completely destroyed a timber yard in Austin Road, near Canton Road, on Saturday morning. The alarm was received just before noon and it was not until about two hours later that the Kowloon Brigade was able to return to the station after successfully extinguishing the flames.

As a result of being struck by a piece of rock during blasting operations at the Government Quarry at Talkoktau yesterday afternoon, a stone breaker, Chan Cheung, aged 26, of Kip Shek Mei, was removed to the Kowloon Hospital, where he died at 6.50 this morning.

A distinctly brighter film than "Half Shot at Sunrise," the new Wheeler-Woolsey production at the Queen's kept audiences in tears of laughter during yesterday's performance. The inimitable pair are engaged in a tussle with rival gangsters and emerge, of course, with flying colours, after many amusing adventures.

1,185 HYMNS TO GO.

SECRET DECISION OF METHODISTS.

The greatest secrecy is being observed respecting the 1,000 hymns chosen for the new Methodist Hymn Book, which will be submitted for approval by the next meetings of the three Methodist Conference.

It is known, however, that the Hymn Book Committee which had to consider the claims for over 2,000 different hymns in the four present Methodist Hymnals rejected the remainder and accepted finally about two-thirds.

Every member of the committee is bound in honour to maintain secrecy concerning the old-fashioned hymns which have been excluded and the modern ones that take their place.

Some of the less popular of Charles Wesley's many hymns have been omitted.

A member of the Hymn Book Committee states:

"Many Methodists are afraid that the old Methodist hymns will be displaced and that a new theological balance is to be introduced. Methodists are peculiarly sensitive on these points."

"The Committee sought to retain as many favourites of former days as possible and not to disturb the old Methodist standards, while introducing the Hymn Book with the hymns in use by other churches."

The Committee has examined over 50 hymn books in use by other churches, and chosen from them about 150 hymns.

As far as possible the new Hymn Book will be limited to 1,000 hymns.

The final draft will be completed after Easter.

COLLEGE BARGE FIRE.

DISASTER ON EVE OF OXFORD TORPIDS.

On the eve of the Torpids, University College had the misfortune to have its barge put out of action by a fire. The interior of the barge was almost destroyed and a great deal of the contents, such as oars, boats, and rowing clothes, was damaged, some beyond repair. The bow of the Oxford boat which beat Cambridge in 1901 was injured.

Owing to the fact that all the windows were closed the fire was confined to the interior and was unable, therefore, to spread to other College barges moored in the immediate vicinity. The Oxford Volunteer Fire Brigade was prompt to arrive and pumped in so much water that the barge's stern sank. Operations to raise the stern were begun at once.

The extent of the damage is estimated at £500. The cost of the barge, when it was built in 1878, was £2,000. So far the cause of the outbreak is not known.

BIG FOREST FIRE 400 ACRES DESTROYED IN SUSSEX.

London, Mar. 27.

Four hundred acres of beautiful forest land were destroyed to-day

when a fire broke out in Ashdown

Forest, Sussex, a popular haunt of holiday-makers.

The spot, where hundreds held picnics on Good Friday in the sunshine, is now a scene of blackened desolation.

In the early hours of this morning forest dwellers were aroused by a red glare, and on getting up saw a wall of flames fifty feet high sweeping through the forest.

Due to the long spell of dryness the undergrowth caught readily and defied all efforts to check the spread of the flames, which destroyed

many ancient trees. Lord Cecil's home at Chalwood, 5½ miles from the forest, was spared.

The Boy Scouts who were holding their Easter Camp in the forest worked strenuously to smother the forest fire.

It is believed that no lives were lost.
